

All Contractors Licenses Expire June 30, 2009

The Contractor's License Board (CLB) announces today that all Contractors licenses will expire on June 30th, 2009 regardless what time of year the license was issued. Failure, neglect or refusal of any licensee to pay the annual renewal fee before such date shall constitute a forfeiture of a license, according to Executive Director Tommy Morrison.

Furthermore, contractors who fail to renew their license on this date and continuing to perform construction projects will be cited by the Board for performing work without a Contractors License. Ample notices were issued to strongly encourage all contractors on Guam to comply with this deadline to avoid any unnecessary penalties, according to Mr. Morrison.

All contractors who have not renewed their license at this time can visit the CLB website at www.clb.guam.gov to download the 2010 Renewal Application Packet.

The CLB licenses and regulates Guam's Construction Industry with over one thousand licensed contractors, and investigates more than one hundred complaints against contractors annually. The CLB also wants to remind the public when dealing with any contractor to make sure that they are properly licensed to do business.
